BRILLIANT DISPLAY OF THE NORTHERN LIGHTS

Heavens Dyed Deep Red by Phenomenon Thursday Night.

A most brilliant display of the northern lights (aurora borealis) lasting nearly three hours occurred in the heavens Thursday night. The luminous phenomenon was at its height about 10.30 o'clock, having made its first appearance shortly after 8 o'clock.

Shortly before 10.30 o'clock a deep red, like the reflection of a big conflagration raging in a nearby town, appeared on the horizon just north of west and within a few minutes the sky from horizon to zenith was alive with color, red, white and blue. Flashes of soft white light across the heavens gave the phenomenon a weird appearance. At one time the deep red in the heavens was so intense that bottom trees and the snow took on a pinkish tint, due to reflection.

The Associated Press wires in many towns of the state, including The Bulletin wire, was temporarily cut out of commission. The phenomenon died away about 11 o'clock.

ROUSING WAR RALLY EXPECTED THIS EVENING.
British-Canadian Mission to Stir Up Interest and Enthusiasm.

It is expected that there will be a genuine rousing war rally at the town hall at 8 o'clock this evening, when the British and Canadian recruiting mission for the state of Connecticut will come to this city and stir up interest and enthusiasm in war activities.

Lieut. H. B. Pepler, Lieut. J. J. Todd and Major Donald Guthrie are real men who have seen real service against real Germans in most real battles. They have genuine war stories to tell that are bound to prove instructive and interesting to American people as well as to the subjects of Great Britain and Canada. The recruiting mission will accept enlistments from all British subjects up to the age of 55.

For eight months the British and Canadian missions have been at work in the United States and they have received applications from 45,000 men. There are 425 British subjects in Norwich and it is expected that a large percentage will be particularly interested in attending the rally.

Besides some stirring speeches from those who have recently returned from the front in France, there will be an excellent musical program of war songs under the direction of James I. Moore. The rally will be open to the public.

Since it became known that a Jewish regiment was forming for service in Palestine, Lieut. H. B. Pepler of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission at 191 Church street, New Haven, Conn., has been swamped with inquiries.

As regards pay, etc., the Jewish regiment is treated exactly the same as a British regiment. The men are sent direct to England and then on to Palestine. Lieut. Pepler says that if there were a Jewish army, it would be the best of the world.

Joseph T. Manning, who enjoys the distinction of being the first grand knight of the local council, will preside at the meeting. The orchestra will furnish music for the occasion. SAW MERRIMAC-MONITOR BATTLE AT HAMPTON ROADS.
Calvin Burrows of Poquonnick Witnessed Famous Encounter 56 Years Ago.

Calvin Burrows of Poquonnick Bridge, who is now 74, had the rare experience 56 years ago tomorrow, March 28, 1862, of witnessing the famous battle between the Merrimac and the Monitor in Hampton Roads.

Mr. Burrows is just as ardent a patriot today as he was back in Civil war times, being anxious to do his bit for Uncle Sam, is based as a watchman at the Groton Iron works, where ships are being turned out for the government. His choice would be to command a coast patrol boat since he was for years engaged in the coasting trade and in menhaden fishing, so he is thoroughly acquainted with the waters of the Atlantic coast.

He and his wife occupy a cozy home at Poquonnick Bridge, not far from that of their only surviving child, Attorney W. B. Burrows.

Although born in the town of Groton, Calvin Burrows was in Wisconsin at the outbreak of the war, and when Lincoln sent out a country-wide call for volunteers Mr. Burrows enlisted in the Fourth Wisconsin battery under Captain G. B. Eastman. His first service was at Fortress Monroe.

The Fourth Wisconsin was doing garrison duty at the fortress and while the war-famous battle between the ironclad engine of war between the Merrimac and the Monitor was being fought, the Fourth Wisconsin was taking place Mr. Burrows with the rest of his comrades was watching with greatest interest.

When the Merrimac was shot so much damage to the ships of the federal fleet—the Congress and the Cumberland—Private Burrows was delegated as one of the gun squad to man the famous gun that was built up among the soldiers as the union gun. The gun, which was a 12-inch rifle, had been set on the beach, and from this position the Merrimac was shot at the break of day, March 8th.

Mr. Burrows in speaking of his experiences while fighting for the union told of the joy experienced in Fortress Monroe by the sight of the queer looking Monitor. The soldiers had never in a state of apprehension since the terrorizing of the nearby waters by the ship Merrimac. It then appeared to all as if the Merrimac's destruction of the ship, the passing of Fort Monroe and the bombardment of New York was only a matter of time.

But the appearance of the Monitor under Lieut. John L. Worden drove that away. Mr. Burrows stated that the Monitor had laid all night under the lee of a federal vessel. When the Merrimac bore down on the federal battle line in the morning, with the evident intention of adding another trophy to her list, the little Monitor appeared from under the stern of the federal craft and immediately started firing at the Merrimac.

It is said that the final shot of the battle, the one which ended the bloodshed and destruction, was fired from the Monitor from such a position that the Merrimac was hit through the armor plate, killing many and ruining the machinery.

GRAHAM AND WHEAT FLOUR SALES DIFFER
And Flour Wholesalers Are Limited in Their Profits.

Sales of graham flour and whole wheat flour differ from those of wheat flour, and flour wholesalers are limited in their profits, according to the following announcements made public Thursday by the federal food administration for Connecticut.

To help conserve the decreasing supply of wheat flour so that more may be sent Italy and her allies, the food administration has asked 400,000 dealers in food commodities to pledge themselves to sell no flour except where the dealer has been given an equal weight of one or more of the authorized food substitutes.

The only exception is in the case of whole wheat and graham flour, which may be sold on a basis of five pounds of flour to three pounds of substitute. This exception is made since about 25 per cent. more of the wheat berry is used in the manufacture of whole wheat and graham flour than in the manufacture of standard wheat flour.

"In the opinion of the food administration the gross maximum profit for whole wheat and graham flour should be 50 to 75 cents per barrel. The profits to retail dealers in original mill packages should not exceed from 50 cents to $1.30 per barrel, depending upon the character of service performed. Where retailers sell in amounts less than original mill packages the gross profit should not exceed one cent a pound. Profits in excess of these or the excess of those obtained in pre-war times will be cause for investigation and should be reported in writing to the federal food administrator."

URGENT PROPELLER CO.

Business Men Show Much Concern Over Giving Up of Chelsea Freight Line.

The announcement that the Norwich-New York Propeller company has decided to postpone indefinitely the operation of the Chelsea line between this city and New York, because of the fact that they claim it is impossible to secure a boat to take the place of the Chelsea, which was badly damaged by fire some time ago, has caused no little concern among business men of Norwich and vicinity.

Many of these business houses have depended on the Chelsea line for the transportation of freight to and from the New York markets. The giving up of the Chelsea line means that now practically all freight that enters or leaves Norwich must be transported by rail, as the Chelsea was the only freight boat (passenger as well) running in and out of this city.

On Thursday President F. W. Cary and Secretary H. B. Branch of the Chamber of Commerce held an informal discussion on the matter and the result was that a letter was forwarded to Manager A. H. Branch of the Norwich-New York Propeller company urging him to make another effort to secure a boat for the line and pledging the support and co-operation of the local chamber.

The letter follows:
A. P. Browning,
Manager Norwich-New York Prop. Co.,
Brooklyn Bridge Pier,
East River, New York.

My Dear Mr. Browning: It is with sincere regret that I read this morning in the news items of The Norwich Bulletin that your line was considering indefinitely giving up of business. This was a shock to me in view of the great need today of every known transportation facility.

Norwich has suffered more this winter than ever before in its history for the want of adequate transportation and I cannot understand in view of the great amount of available business unless it be perhaps that there is no available boat that could either be leased or purchased suitable for this important line. We had supposed here in Norwich that the vital of the old Chelsea was being merely matter of superstructure and nonessentials that would be required to make her again as good as new. I speak for the business interests of Norwich and our members of the Chamber of Commerce when I say that if there is anything we can do in any way to assist the management of your company in its efforts to secure for this section of Connecticut an independent boat line for New York we shall consider it a privilege to co-operate.

As this is in an inside route it would appear at first glance that there must be boats of light draft and perhaps unseaworthy for outside courses, that could be obtained for a sum within the limits your company might feel warranted to pay. No doubt you have considered how hard it is to build up a business after it has been neglected for a period of time. Shippers are loath to change habits long established and I do feel it almost a crime for your company to sacrifice the years and years of toll in building up this service and the incalculable sums of money expended in advertising the same, serving as it does the whole of Eastern Connecticut.

It takes time to build up the personnel of the managing force of such a line and we do hope that you will reconsider and make another effort to secure a vessel, though she be not a speedy one, in order that a competing boat line between Norwich and New York will continue an asset for the civic advancement and upbuilding of the mercantile and industrial interests of our beloved city.

Again we reiterate our former statement that the Chamber of Commerce of Norwich stands ready to render any assistance to that end.

We remain, sincerely yours,
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Per H. B. Branch, Secy.
The manufacturers' bureau of the chamber will consider the matter at their meeting tonight. F. V. Knope, local agent for the Norwich-New York Propeller company, has been extending an invitation to attend the meeting, and it is probable that he will have a statement to make in regard to the indefinite postponement of the Chelsea line.

OBITUARY
Cosmos Unger.

Cosmos Unger, 65 years old, one of the best known German residents of New London, died Thursday morning after a long illness. Mr. Unger came to this country about 1833, and settled in New London, where he opened a shoemaking shop, and later giving up this enterprise to become a gardener, which occupation he pursued for many years. In after life he entered the employ of the city in the street department, and he remained there until his health failed a few years ago.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS
What Eastern Connecticut Boys Are Doing in Various Branches of the Service.

Jewett City Man at Camp Greene.
Miss Florina J. Parkhouse of Jewett City has received a letter from her uncle, Fred Couture, Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C. in part the letter follows:

Just a line to let you know I am in the line of health. There is not much news here. Everything is about the same, although it continues to grow warmer every day. If I'm kind of weather keeps up it will be so warm here in a few days that we will not be able to stand it. I was in hopes that they would ship us to France in a week or so. I don't think now that we will go before the middle of the month. I have not yet been to this place has certainly got me guessing, but I can't kick, for we only have to work about four hours a day, and we work most three of them in the forenoon, so you see we don't have to work very hard in the afternoon.

I weighed myself last Saturday and weighed 184 pounds, and when I went in the service I weighed 182, so you see I have gained 21 pounds in about four months.

Your uncle,
FRED COUTURE.
